INDEX TO RADIO CALL-SIGNS

Australia

* * *

It is thought that the Radio Call-Sign system was originated sometime in April of 1942 - an exact date and such matters as to why and under what authority the system was instituted are yet to be discovered. Al Bovelt's research indicates that the system was officially cancelled (in its war-time form) on 01 May 47, per reference 1.501.329 under HQ Order No. 1164.

Note - this list is a distillation from a wide variety of sources : the entries listed are those thought to be the most accurate, based on a number of factors including aircraft known to have been in the country, and the application of a little logic : underlined entries are considered (at present) as doubtful; italicised entries need final proof. It is very important to remember that this listing is an index only, and that any additional detail concerning these machines should be found on such individual records as may be compiled for those machines.

"Index Numbers" - an official listing is available which shews some 200+ of these numbers listed against a parallel call-sign list - their meaning is unknown at present, nor do they appear to 100% accurate - but where known they have been entered on this index (following the c/n) for the sheer hell of it - it may be that they prove of some value in the future

* aircraft so noted indicate sighted from photographs
